SPRINT MAP COMPLETED!!! SAUZE D'OULX LOOKS TRICKY

From the 2nd to the 7th of May, professional Italian cartographer Samuele Curzio was in Sauze d'Oulze to realize the sprint map of the picturesque alpine village, terrain of North West Cup 2022 stage 1.

The maps looks even better than what we expected. What impressed us the most, is that in a very small area there are very different type of sprint terrain. The city center is a complex mix of narrow street and small passages where runners will have to keep 100% focus on map reading. In the surroundings there are some residential areas with fences and uncrossable walls where it will be very important to choose the correct route and avoid getting stuck in the traps made by the course setter. Finally, there are also small area of meadows and forest where the best techniques to use will be those typical for forest orienteering. In every part of the map climb will have to be considered when planning the route.

In few words, the sprint stage will be a real challenge for everyone, and just the most complete sprint orienteers will be able to master all kind of terrain proposed!!!

Below are reported a couple of map sample, but of course the best parts are still top secret, and you will have to run to discover them.

DO NOT MISS THIS GREAT OPPORTUNITY! ENTRIES ARE OPEN TILL 30/06!!!
